

Best Management Recruitment Consultancy - Germany

SABINE MÄRTEN Executive Search is an Executive Search boutique dedicated to filling executive, managerial and leadership positions. We invited Sabine Märten to tell us more about the company and talks to us about the future.

SABINE MÄRTEN Executive Search are specialised in fully retained direct search for top tier individuals and whole groups of experts. That means professionally targeted screening of the whole market to find the most fitting personalities to match its client's needs. The firm's customers include renowned international companies as well as prominent SMEs and innovative start-ups. In the industry, the company's focus is in financial services and real estate. Sabine outlines the firm's overall mission for us and how the company aims to achieve this.

"Being able to deliver high standards of quality and trustworthiness in each single step of our processes, appearance and client services is my mission. My aim is to improve them each year by at least 10%. I continuously observe new developments in new technologies, working methods as well as marketing tools and adapt such which will move us forward."

Boasting a wealth of experience is something Sabine believes help her company stand out and distinguish itself from competitors. Both sides of the process are managed by someone with experience, as the initial contact with potential candidates will never be delegated. Sabine also points out that the firm never gives up in trying to find the best solution for candidates.

"Within the firm there is a continuity of more than 30 years in the financial services and real estate market combined with an excellent personal network and knowledge of the industry. The client and candidate sides are managed exclusively by an experienced executive consultant and decisive steps of the search, especially the initial contact with potential candidates, will never be delegated. Also, we never give up to find the best solution."

Regarding the internal culture in the firm, it is important all staff are equipped to provide the best possible service to clients. This not only helps the firm get the best results but also ensures employees are working towards a brighter future for the company.

"Ultimately, we are dedicated to deliver best quality and services to clients as well as candidates. Hiring highly intrinsically motivated, skilled employees and free lancers, give them ambitious targets, plenty of rope to reach them as well as praying good quality of work and control it, this is the basis for our success."
